For size confusion :

As a natural product sheepskin and traditional handicraft product is prone to stretching within the first few days of wear. If your boots are slightly too small it is recommended that you wear them for at least 24 hours and they will stretch to fit your feet. If your boots are still not the correct size after 24 hours then we will be happy to provide an exchange for you.

Tips to remember:

In general, sheepskin footwear should fit snug but not be uncomfortable.

The wool will compact and the sheepskin will stretch a bit making your footwear feel larger over time (this is especially true with suede, or twin-faced, sheepskin styles).

Warm Tip:

UGG Boots are made of high quality, genuine sheepskin with premium fleece. However, it will prone to be torn if you run into with wholly strength when you feel a bit tight. In a Hot-sale season, sometimes, items are checked and packed when they just be made, So it is normal that there is a little strange odor when you open up your package. It will fade away after being kept in a well ventilated place for a certain time.
